MASKS WITH A purpose

Face masks have become a vital tool in the global fight against COVID-19. International Esperanza Project (IEP) and AMN Healthcare, which partner in medical and community development missions that have helped tens of thousands of people in Guatemala, are sponsoring the manufacture of protective masks with authentic Guatemalan cloth patterns and branded with AMN and IEP logos.

The COVID-19 pandemic and social-distancing and stay-at-home orders to combat the disease are causing public health and economic challenges around the world. The economies of developing countries such as Guatemala are severely impacted as most people depend on their daily labor to feed their families.

The production of the IEP/AMN masks, manufactured at Confesa, S.A. near Guatemala City, will help protect the livelihoods of approximately 700 families whose incomes depend on the factory's continued operation.

The masks project has provided part-time work under strictly regulated conditions at the factory, bringing jobs while protecting the health of Guatemalans who are making them. When travel restrictions are lifted in the country, the factory will provide even greater employment and training opportunities.

These beautiful masks proudly reflect the people and culture of Guatemala and the shared commitment of IEP and its partner AMN Healthcare to improve the health and well-being of local and global communities.

UNITED TOGETHER, TO INSPIRE hope.

Many Guatemalans
depend on daily hands-
on work to earn enough to feed their families. A meaningful job is a powerful gift.
